

Saniflo Products Now Available at Anchor Pumps

Anchor Pumps, the UK's leading pump distributor, have been supplying local and international customers with domestic and commercial pumps, accessories, and straight-talking advice since the 1980s.

Wednesday April 12th, 2016, Anchor Pumps, the UK's leading pump distributor, have been supplying local and international customers with domestic and commercial pumps, accessories, and straight-talking advice since the 1980s.

Now, as a well-established supplier of world-leading brands including Grundfos, Salamander and Blagdon, among many others, Anchor Pumps are the 'go-to' outlet for both independent and professional trade buyers alike and that looks set to continue as they add Saniflo to their range.

Warren Holmes, Managing Director at Anchor Pumps said;

"We're delighted to be extending our offering to include Saniflo. Putting the needs of our customers first is the linchpin of our business and by adding their high quality, high performance pumps and macerators to our range, we can cater to those needs more extensively and do so with absolute confidence."

For more than 50 years, Saniflo have invested heavily in research and development to create a range of durable, functional and efficient pumps and macerators. Their products free homeowners, community groups and companies from the limitations of existing water inlet and waste outlet pipework, making it possible to install bathroom, kitchen and utility facilities almost anywhere in a building, and at little cost. The convenience, performance and cost savings available have made their brand respected and in demand, worldwide.

For some time, the installation of additional bathroom and kitchen facilities has been a necessary and standard renovation requirement for commercial or multi-occupancy residences, but the demand for these kinds of renovations is now expected to grow in the domestic property market. With house prices outstripping incomes in most parts of the UK, increasing numbers of homeowners are choosing to stay put and renovate their property to make it suitable for their changing needs instead of moving somewhere new. A recent survey by Gocompare.com Money revealed that 14% of homeowners are now considering making changes to their homes and the most desirable renovations topping wish lists were the installation of new bathrooms, kitchens and extensions.

These pumps and macerators simplify those renovations and dramatically reduce the associated disruption and costs of building and plumbing works. With increased demand for them expected, the addition of these products to the Anchor pumps range could prove equally beneficial to this Cheshire-based supplier and the numerous independent and trade customers they serve. To find out more about the products and services available from Anchor Pumps or the specific benefits of their new range, visit their website or call them directly on 0800 1123134.

Contact Details;

Website: www.anchorpumps.com

Telephone: 0800 112 3134

Email: info@anchorpumps.com

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/AnchorPumpsLtd/>

Twitter: <https://twitter.com/anchorpumps>

Linkedin: <https://www.linkedin.com/company/anchor-pumps-company-ltd>

PR Contact:

Samantha Long

samantha.long@yoma.co.uk

0151 282 1263

Email: aparkinson@anchorpumps.com

Sales: sales@anchorpumps.com

Freephone: 0800 112 3134

Anchor Pumps supply industrial and domestic pumps for a wide range of applications and environments. As the UK's leading pump distributor, the successful online retailer specialises in domestic and industrial pumps, including shower pumps, booster pumps, heating pumps and submersible pumps.