Salisbury Group sponsors IOSH 2015

#BeyondCompliance

"Health and safety is paramount to a successful, productive work environment, so we're delighted to be supporting the year's most important safety event"

Salisbury Group are delighted to announce that they will be sponsoring the IOSH Annual Conference 2015, the UK's leading symposium for health and safety professionals.

The event will run alongside Safety & Health Expo and the Facilities Show run by organisers UBM Live. The symposium is the flagship health and safety conference of the year, and takes place on 16-17 June 2015 at ExCeL London, under the central theme 'Leadership in Action: Shaping the Future'.

"We're sponsoring the 'Beyond Compliance' stream for the conference" explains Simon Toseland, head of Salisbury Group's Compliance Division, and himself a chartered member of IOSH (CMIOSH). "We have planned with UBM a superb range of health and safety experts, real-life case studies and discussions for delegates, to demonstrate not only the huge business advantages of compliance, but to celebrate the success of health and safety. Key sessions will also be reviewing and updating us on the very latest regulatory aspects."

Salisbury Compliance delivers real value-added services to ensure that businesses', employees and their brands are protected and thrive. With over 27 million days lost through work-related sickness and work-injuries in the UK, Salisbury's team are passionate about providing tailor-made solutions that create safe and productive work environments.

Their facilities management monitoring solutions include Health & Safety Services, Health & Safety Audits, Asbestos Management, Fire Risk Management, Construction Safety and Construction Design and Management (CDM).

"Health and safety is paramount to a successful, productive work environment, so we're delighted to be supporting the year's most important safety event" concludes Simon.
