

Unique certification by TÜV at Troax

Hillerstorp 11 April 2016

Troax develops innovative safety solutions based on steel mesh panels. They are the first company in the world to create a standard verifying the performance of an anti-collapse mesh system for pallet racking.

– Troax Test Center is the heart of our business. Here our products go through tough tests to maintain a high standard. We are proud to have received this certificate, since it means that our anti-collapse mesh system has good quality and therefore makes our clients world safe, says Martin Ask, Product Manager at Troax.

TÜV Rheinland has inspected, verified, and evaluated a line of products as well as the test methods used in Troax Test Center. TÜV Rheinland is short for Technischer Überwachungsverein, which means Technical Inspection Association. TÜV Rheinland consists of independent consultants who validate the safety of products and services of all kinds in order to protect humans and the environment against hazards. Since they have very strict requirements for the approval of a product or service, the certification is one of the strongest quality marks internationally. Here you can download the certificate:

– This certification is just a start, says Martin. We will continue to certify more products and test methods in order to make our clients' world safe.
