

European patent approval for Episurf Medical's individualised surgical instruments

The European patent office EPO has announced its intention to grant another European patent for Episurf Medical (NASDAQ: EPIS B). The patent being approved is within the area of individualised surgical instruments with a focus on the drill guide for the Episealer® Femoral Twin implant. This is the first patent approval within this patent family.

"This patent covers the drill guide for the Episealer® Femoral Twin implant, which is the implant that shows the highest sales volumes. Extensive IP protection within this field is therefore important for us", comments Pål Ryfors, CEO, Episurf Medical.
