Camfil's Low Energy Air Filters Win FM Industry Product Award

For free and immediate distribution

The UK's leading online FM magazine Tomorrow's FM has awarded Camfil Farr's Hi-Flo M7F7 Bag filter with a Top Facilities Management Industry Award at their inaugural 2013 Awards.

The Tomorrow's FM awards for 2013 celebrated their chosen top products from the entire FM industry over the past year. The Tomorrow's FM Judges panel spent months deliberating and selected just 50 product manufacturers and service providers and published the guide to their 62,000 audience of FM professionals in January 2013. The selection criteria included qualities such innovation, ease-of-use and sustainability.

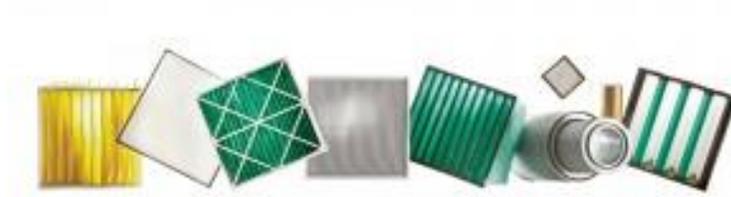

The Tomorrow's FM Product Guide entry included:

"The true innovation of the Hi-Flo M7F7 Bag filter is that it can be used as a single stage filter system to maximise energy efficiency. It can also be used as a two-stage system to deliver the highest recommended Indoor Air Quality (IAQ) F9 level while still making energy savings"

Bill Wilkinson, Managing Director, Camfil UK said:

"There is a good chance that, at this very moment, you are breathing clean air that has passed through a filter manufactured by us. Our products can be found everywhere from offices to clean rooms for sensitive electronics production, schools, mines, factories, hospitals and nuclear power stations. These awards are another stamp of approval for us, proof that our low energy air filters help FM's and Estates Professionals improve their sustainability whilst making substantial energy savings".

Camfil Farr delivers value to customers all over the world while contributing to something essential to everyone – clean air for health, well-being and performance. To find out more about Camfil's range of air filters, visit www.camfilfarr.co.uk or call 01706 238000.
