

THIS IS A GREEN TABLE

Malmö, June 9, 2014

Duni is launching the market's most extensive range of compostable, unicolored products.

If you want to care for the environment and still create a colorful atmosphere, our extensive range of compostable unicolored products is the natural choice.

Duni is launching the world's biggest range of compostable, unicolored napkins and tablecoverings. The products in the range carry the OK Compost label. This means that they are guaranteed as biodegradable in an industrial composting plant, contain no harmful chemicals, and may be sorted with food waste when allowed.

Elisabeth Gierow, CSR & Quality Director at Duni: "We are launching the range for two main reasons. Firstly, there is strong demand from our customers for eco-conscious solutions. Secondly, for us innovation, quality, safety and environmental standards go hand in hand."
