

Aqeri signs partnership with Advantech

Aqeri, leading Swedish supplier of computers and communications equipment for harsh environments and industrial 24/7 operation, has signed a multi-year partnership agreement with Advantech Europe B.V. The agreement means that Aqeri will market and deliver IT and OT products and solutions from Advantech, focusing on Smart Factory and Industry 4.0, to Swedish industrial companies.

"We are very pleased to have signed an agreement with the market leader in industrial Internet of Things (IoT). Customer demands for long-term use of our products over the years, has given us strong customer relationships with many leading Swedish companies. Aqeri will now together with Advantech offer complete solutions for use within Industry 4.0 technology. This cooperation increases the business potential of Aqeri significantly,", says Lisen Olander CEO of Aqeri AB.

"We are pleased to build on our achieved joint success and broaden an excellent cooperation with Aqeri. This next step will bring closer together two leading companies with highly complementary expertise and market access for Automation and Communication," says Rick de Vries, North Europe Sales Manager. "Advantech Global Partner Program brings together our advanced products with flexible automation solutions from a select nucleus of partners around the world. Aqeri has an excellent reputation as specialist in computers and communications equipment and 'fits the bill' perfectly as an Advantech partner."
