Studsvik to sell Horsviks gård to Nyköping municipality

Studsvik is to sell Horsviks gård to Nyköping municipality. The property consists of 100 hectares, of which 27 hectares land (including two islands) and the rest is water. The property includes a number of buildings, a small sandy beach, rocky swimming places, a garden and pastureland. The property is currently a Natura 2000 site, an area of particular natural importance. After today's positive news from the Municipal Executive Board, Studsvik and Nyköping municipality will now start the work of subdivision and real property formation, which is expected to continue into autumn 2018. The property is being sold for SEK 14 million.

"It feels particularly gratifying to sell to Nyköping municipality, as we wanted more people to benefit from this fantastic area. The municipality's wish to make it accessible to the public is entirely in line with what we wanted from a buyer," says Joakim Lundström, President of Studsvik Nuclear AB.

"Making the coastline available for the public is important for the municipality. This is therefore a very important decision for the inhabitants in Nyköping," Says Urban Granström, Chair of the municipal assembly.
