Press release

Addnode Group acquires Apricon which develops effective solutions for collaboration in construction projects

Stockholm October 2, 2017 - Addnode Group has acquired the Swedish software company Apricon, which has developed a cloud-based tool for project collaboration and document management for the construction and real estate industry. The company has nine employees and has a turnover of approximately SEK 10 million.

Since its foundation in 2004, Apricon has founded its offer in a broad understanding of the construction industry's processes. The company's services are used by leading real estate companies, contractors, and project managers – in Sweden and abroad.

- "We are a leading provider of business-critical IT solutions to the construction and real estate industry. The acquisition of Apricon means that we strengthen our offer with additional expertise and a well-reputed project tool" says Rolf Kjærnsli, President of Addnode Groups Division Design Management.

Completion will take place on October 2, 2017 and Apricon will be part of Addnode Group's Division Design Management.
