

Flaming fairy sets the reels ablaze

New Play'n GO Leprechaun title is too hot to handle

21st August, 2017 – Award-winning games developer Play'n GO has turned up the heat with the launch of its latest hot-to-trot slot, Leprechaun goes to Hell.

The fiery 5-reel, 25 fixed line game, featuring the eponymous hero, a wicked she-devil called Evilene and melting pots of gold, is set to leave players with a burning desire to win big.

The deadly duo form the game's two wild symbols that substitute for any other reel symbol, except scatters, to help create winning combinations. And should they both be part of the same winning payline combination, the payline is doubled.

Pots of gold scatter symbol also award free spins whilst three Evilene bonus scatter symbols trigger the Infernal Bonus Round, where players need to raise the temperature to scoop the top prizes.

The hotter is gets the more jackpots that can be won and with higher bets intensifying the flames there are even better chances of hitting the hot spot.

Johan Törnqvist, CEO of Play'n GO, said: "Out slots have always been known for blazing a trail, but we think we've hit a hot streak with Leprechaun goes to Hell.

"It has the perfect combination of great graphics, solid maths, and immersive gameplay which players and operators love in equal measure. It should be one helluva hit!"

Play'n GO is a leading developer of casino slots, with successful titles including Viking Runecraft, Gemix, and Fire Joker in its premium offering. These were recently joined by the Manga-inspired Moon Princess.
