After recently being crowned Slot Provider of the Year at the EGR B2B Awards, CEO Johan Törnqvist believes it's important to maintain the company's historical offerings as well as creating new titles for the industry to enjoy.

"Slot Provider of the Year is a major recognition for us as a company and it shows us, and the industry, that we are a company heading in the right direction. I believe that part of the reason that we won this award is not only because of the new innovations that we are releasing, but also because we are making sure our partners, and their players, can continue to supply and enjoy all their favourite games, past and present. It's important to look forward, but we don't want to leave too much behind."
