Rejlers acquires environmental consultant in Falun

Rejlers acquires the company Grundvattenteknik AB, GVT. The company has ten employees. Through the acquisition Rejlers also establishes a new office in Falun.

GVT has worked with various forms of environmental consultant services for over 20 years.

"GVT has highly skilled employees who will contribute positively to our growing business in the environmental field. By GVT, we also get an important local presence in Falun", says Conny Udd, CEO Rejlers Sweden.

"Rejlers has, just like us, a family atmosphere and a good reputation in the industry. We look forward to strengthening Rejlers' business in the environmental field. We will be able to offer our employees new development opportunities and our customers will have access to a wider range of services", says Bo Ledin, CEO, GVT.

GVT was founded as a family business in 1990 and has expanded since. Today, the company offers services in wastewater treatment, water supply, waste technology and contaminated soil. Assignments are performed, primarily for municipalities and industrial companies.
