

Cummins shares plans for profitable growth with investment community

Senior leaders of Cummins Inc. (NYSE:CMI) today shared their five year plans for profitable growth, emphasizing the opportunities presented by tightening emissions regulations in many parts of the world, the acquisition of its distributors in North America and highlighting the roll-out of a broad range of exciting new products, .

Speaking at a meeting with more than 100 Wall Street analysts and shareholders, Cummins Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Tom Linebarger, Chief Financial Officer Pat Ward and other top leaders of the business, discussed opportunities for all four of the Company's operating segments to generate strong revenue growth and increase profitability.

Cummins expects to grow revenues at 2 to 3 times the rate of growth in global GDP and laid out its targets for revenues and profitability in 2018 under two different economic scenarios to reflect the uncertain economic conditions ahead. Assuming a higher growth environment in the global economy, the Company expects to deliver revenues of $31 billion and Earnings Before Interest and Taxes (EBIT) of 18% in 2018 and achieve Return On Equity above 25 percent. The Company said that in an environment of lower global growth, it expects to deliver revenues of $25 billion and EBIT of 16% in 2018 resulting in Return on Equity above 20 percent.

Linebarger and other Company leaders covered a number important topics including:

- key macroeconomic and industry trends that are driving growth opportunities for Cummins;
- investments in new products that will help Cummins continue to strengthen its competitive advantage and capitalize on these key growth trends;
- plans to acquire the North America distribution businesses; and
- continued focus on profitable growth to drive long term shareholder value.

"We are confident in our plans to grow faster than the end markets we serve," said Linebarger. "Our leadership in technology, strong partnerships and unmatched global presence allows us to deliver the best products and services to help our customers win in the markets where they operate all over the world. Cummins has made, and continues to make, significant investments in a range of exciting new products and in our distribution system to ensure that we continue to deliver profitable growth and help our customers succeed."
