Through Hoops for Kids, every Warriors three pointer made during the 2013-14 regular season generates $500 for five organizations working locally to improve educational opportunities and life outcomes for kids. To date, the Warriors have made 721 three-pointers during the 2013-14 season (as of April 10, 2014), raising over $350,000 and counting for Hoops for Kids.

With their partnership we can make an impact off the court for those who need it the most."

During pre-game of Monday's game against the Minnesota Timberwolves, from 5:30pm – 6:15pm, the Warriors Community Foundation, Koret Foundation and Taube Family Foundation will host a reception for the beneficiaries in the Warriors Lounge. In addition, the five organizations will be recognized on-court with a check presentation at halftime.

"The Koret Foundation and Taube Philanthropies have been longstanding supporters of youth organizations," said Tad Taube, President of the Koret Foundation and Chairman of Taube Philanthropies. "We are gratified and proud that we can join with the Warriors Community Foundation to partner in a program that will enhance our mutual commitment and have an impact on underserved youth in the communities we serve."
