

Canadian TV and radio hosts volunteer to help vulnerable children and communities around the world

Rachel Bonnetta and Sharon Caddy join CCFC's roster of volunteer Ambassadors

TORONTO, ON (June 3, 2015) – Christian Children's Fund of Canada \(CCFC\) is pleased to announce that Rachel Bonnetta and Sharon Caddy have joined TSN's James Duthie and Canadian fashion icon Linda Lundström as the organization's volunteer Ambassadors.

Through her work with Major League Soccer, the Toronto Football Club and hosting youth-focused shows on YTV and KickTV, Rachel Bonnetta has firmly anchored her place as a rising social media star. As Ambassador for CCFC's Community Rise™ monthly giving program, Rachel will encourage a new generation of Canadians to commit to positively impacting the lives of children and families around the world through sustainable and life-changing community projects.

With over two decades of experience as a television and radio broadcaster with stations including CTV and YES TV, Sharon Caddy is now the co-host of What She Said, a daily talk show on SiriusXM, focused on issues of interest to women. As an Ambassador for CCFC, Sharon will expand the reach of the organization through her on-air and online following and share her passion about CCFC's work in promoting maternal, newborn and child health globally.
