Customers Bank adds Travis Gray to New York Metro Private and Commercial Banking Division

Wyomissing, Pa. (April 27, 2015) – Customers Bank has appointed Travis L. Gray as Senior Vice President of its New York Metro Private and Commercial Banking Division.

As Senior Vice President, Gray will assist the Banking Group in expanding its New York commercial finance market. Gray will report to Marshall Perrin, Executive Vice President of Customers Bank's Private and Commercial Banking Division in the Bank's Manhattan loan production/representative office.

Prior to joining Customers Bank, Gray served as senior vice president and national sales executive at Bank of America. While there, he built and oversaw the management and growth of a $1.1 billion portfolio for a U.S. and eastern Canadian asset finance business within Bank of America's Global Commercial and Investment Bank.

"Travis has a proven track record of building a profitable national business, and we are pleased to have a proven banking professional of his caliber join our winning team," said George Maroulis, executive vice president and head of Customers Bank Private and Commercial Banking. "Travis' expertise and talent will further strengthen Customers Bank's influence in the commercial banking sector within its entire footprint."

Customers Bank's Private and Commercial Banking N.Y. Metro Division operates a loan production office for commercial, industrial and real estate lending in Manhattan, and provides services in corporate cash management, credit cards, merchant processing, and business and private personal banking from its Rye Brooke, N.Y. full-service branch.
