April 18, 2018
London, UK

Getinge is pleased to confirm that it will host a series of (endo) vascular workshops, in collaboration with VASCULAR INTERNATIONAL at Charing Cross Symposium taking place from 24-27 April 2018, Olympia Grand, London UK.

With maximized patient safety as a priority, VASCULAR INTERNATIONAL are dedicated to improving the skills and outcomes in vascular interventions. With this goal in mind, Getinge will provide the training platform in which participants will have hands-on experience and the opportunity to learn the latest techniques from the experts.

“We are committed to partnering in training with the medical community and therefore very pleased about our ongoing partnership with VASCULAR INTERNATIONAL. Both organizations understand the importance of providing the appropriate training and guidance to surgeons early on in their medical careers. These workshops also provide the participants with the opportunity to network and build relationships with medical experts,” says Markus Stirner-Schilling, Senior Director, Acute Care Therapies, Global Commercial Operations.

Customers will have the possibility to learn, in closely supervised modules, the latest techniques from experts in the field: renal placement of Advanta V12, a bifurcated antimicrobial graft for AAA or the latest techniques in arteriovenous accesses.

Getinge will also support a very important satellite symposium; 'Long term results in the treatment of complex aortic diseases - the importance of a reliable, proven, trusted covered stent'. In addition, there will be an edited live case session 'Explanation of different EVAR devices with infection'. During this educational session, important tips and tricks will be shared on these high-risk procedures and the benefit of using an antimicrobial graft like INTERGARD SYNERGY will be highlighted as well.
