

Agreement with Asian energy company through Advenica's partner – order worth MSEK 3.5

Advenica, the Swedish provider of cybersecurity solutions, has through its Singapore-based partner Athena Dynamics signed a general agreement with one of Asia's larger energy companies. The first delivery takes place immediately.

Interest in Advenica's products and services for raising critical infrastructure's – and thus society's – preparedness for cyberattacks is increasing not only in Sweden but also internationally. On the Asian market, where several new power plants are being built, Advenica has co-operated for years with IT partner Athena Dynamics.

The agreement with the energy company includes Cross Domain Solutions, segmentation products that maintain the integrity of IT networks by ensuring secure communication. The first order placed is worth MSEK 0.6 with delivery in Q1 2018. Additional products will be delivered in Q2 and Q3 2018. The order value amounts to approximately MSEK 3.5.

This deal is another success for Advenica within our strong focus area critical infrastructure. At the energy company, Cross Domain Solutions will be deployed with other products to safeguard critical information and secure production.
