

Advenica enters partnership with CGI Sweden

Advenica and CGI Sweden have initiated a strategic partnership regarding products and services to the Swedish market. The partnership makes it possible to provide customers with an overall cybersecurity solution.

Cybersecurity is an increasingly business critical issue in today's digitalised world. More companies and authorities are also recognising the importance of solid security for their IT environment in order to protect sensitive information.

Advenica has provided expertise and solutions for cybersecurity for 25 years. Now the company enters a partnership with CGI Sweden, Sweden's largest IT service company with access to the CGI Group's worldwide network of IT consultants. With this partnership Advenica broadens sales potential and gets a strong partner with services that complement their unique encryption and segmentation product portfolio.

We are delighted and proud to collaborate with CGI Sweden. Together, we bring a more complete offer to the market, providing customers with an overall cybersecurity solution.
