

Thomas Hoyer is a graduate in economics and a seasoned executive management professional. He held various senior positions in finance and software before moving into base material industries. In the mining industry, Thomas was CEO for ferrochrome producer Afarak Group Oyj until 2013 and thereafter has managed various international mine developments. Since 2017 Thomas is CEO of Latitude 66 Cobalt Inc, a Finnish Australian company developing multiple cobalt assets in northern Finland. He is a non-executive Board member at Gaia Oy, a leading sustainability consulting company, and in the AIM-listed mining development company Red Leopard Holdings Inc.

---