Sekisui Diagnostics Selects Ginolis for Automated Production Solution

San Diego, USA

Sekisui Diagnostics, a global leader in innovative medical diagnostic products, has selected global automation solutions provider, Ginolis, to automate the packaging and labeling of its rapid diagnostic test strips

The production solution is based on Ginolis' desktop Xanthia automation platform. The desktop design and comprehensive machine vision system enable high quality production within a small footprint. The company is committed to revolutionizing the healthcare consumables industry with its innovative approach to automation.

"We were impressed with Ginolis and their modular approach to equipment flexibility. We were also impressed with their track record for on time delivery and excellent referrals from previous customers" said Harold Chan, VP IVD R&D and Manufacturing of Sekisui Diagnostics.
