

Novacura Flow® 6 enables innovation on the digital journey

GOTHENBURG, December 15, 2016 – Novacura, a leading developer of next-generation Business Process Management solutions and makers of Novacura Flow®, the Enterprise App, announces the official launch and general availability of Novacura Flow 6.

Novacura Flow makes it possible for businesses and organizations to create and run business applications quickly and easily, based on their processes and business needs. The environment is open, and no coding or manual integration is required. An application can go from idea to execution within hours.

Novacura Flow acts as a layer creating a common language between business and IT, processes and ERP. This is combined with powerful tools that enables quick, efficient and safe optimization of any business process, all presented in an intuitive UI.

With Flow 6, the tools are more powerful, and more intuitive, than ever before.

Key features and improvements to Novacura Flow 6 include:

Flow Studio – the new user interface is much more than a facelift. It brings a new level of simplicity and user-friendliness to designing, validating, reviewing and managing workflows. The UI makes it easier than ever for non-developers to achieve insight in processes and try out ideas.

Swimlanes – multi-user support for constructing and managing applications, with different tasks easily assigned to the right stakeholder.

New workflow options supporting different use cases, including enabling publishing fully automated workflows as a structured web service, or reusing common workflow parts easily.

Sub-workflows, enabling users to create smarter applications in shorter time. Features have been specifically designed from customer feedback requesting shortcuts for common tasks, such as creating picklists, or reporting time.

Offline capabilities – enhanced autonomy of the platform to ensure full functionality and access when working without internet connection.

Performance – the new design provides significant improvements in access and response time, further enhancing user-friendliness.

Today Novacura's solutions help more than 15 000 users at 100 customers across the globe manage and optimize their business processes, in a wide variety of industries and business segments. Novacura Flow 6 is compatible with leading business systems including IFS Applications, SAP, Infor M3, Microsoft Dynamics and IBM Maximo. Existing Novacura Flow customers will be offered a free upgrade to Flow 6.

Supporting quotes:

“It’s fair to say that with Flow 6 we have taken everything we have learned from ten years of development and working closely with customers and turned it all into a product that brings potential customer value to a whole new level. In short, we go from real and simple process improvement to simply unreal process improvement.” - Petter Larsson, Product Manager and co-founder, Novacura.

“With Novacura Flow 6 we have taken business development one step further and created a platform for digitalization and internet of things. Flow 6 acts as the key to unlock our customer’s internal business development. It inspires our customers to become more innovative and will support them on their digital journey. The freedom to define your own process, run it on any device, make it available to everyone involved and run it on top of any system or thing has been made even more easy, fun and rewarding. These capabilities ultimately make our customers more efficient and provide the returns for an excellent total cost of ownership.” – Johan Melander, CEO and co-founder, Novacura

-“During beta testing of Flow 6 we have been able to get feedback from both developers and users that has helped us feel that we have been able to shape the finished product. Through working with Novacura we have gotten a platform that helps us act quickly on the business’ needs of new IT support, and be a part in shaping the solutions at an earlier stage of the process. IT can be more of a strategic resource.” – Rasmus Lindell, Webmaster, Julia AB
