Global Expat Media Portal Launches

NEWS ARTICLES FROM AROUND THE WORLD!

The team that brought you The Expat Survey, the world's only independent research programme of those living outside their country of origin, unveil the Expat Media Hub.

The Expat Media Hub has been established to create the world's largest index of off and online media serving all those residing abroad; so that no matter where you are in the world or what nationality you are, you can look up whatever media resource is relevant to you.

The Hub will be an active tool and living chart of the movement of the quarter billion who live outside of their nation of origin. This includes media aimed at lifestyle expats, overseas contract and migrant workers, students, high net worth individuals and global nomads.

In a world where global mobility is escalating, the number of all types of expatriates is growing. Maintaining connectivity with your roots, as well as being able to find the information resources you need to empower you in your daily life as an expatriate we know is essential.

The Expat Media Hub aims to bring all these off and online media together in one place to serve all nationalities residing in a foreign land. Search blogs, books, forums, magazines, newspapers, radio stations and shows, Television stations and shows and websites.

If you are a media owner serving foreign nationals and you aren't already listed in The Expat Media Hub, please contact us today to claim your free micro-site page.
