Kristofer Tonström, CEO and President: The summer has started well in all home markets with a combined organic sales increase of 14 per cent compared to the previous year. Growth comes from both the basic assortment as well as seasonal range, where demand for weather-related products such as fans and air conditioning started already in June compared to July last year. Another contributing factor to the increase in sales was the positive calendar effect from more trading days in our Norwegian stores compared to June 2025. Regarding sales, we also see positive currency effects linked to the Norwegian krone for the third month in a row. At the same time, when looking ahead, we see that the rapid fluctuations in NOK will have negative effects from currency hedging in the quarter compared with last year.
