BioStock article: Aptahem's CEO comments on Q2 and looks ahead

For Aptahem, the second quarter continued to focus on the clinical development of drug candidate Aptahem-1 against sepsis. However, the company recently put the clinical phase Ia study on hold after making, what it called, interesting findings. BioStock talked to CEO Mikael Lindstam to get an update.

About Aptahem

Aptahem AB (APTA) is a clinical stage biotechnology company that develops RNA-based pharmaceuticals for the treatment of acute, life-threatening conditions in which a combination of coagulation, inflammation and tissue damage are involved. The company's lead candidate, Aptahem-1, is currently in early clinical phase. Aptahem-1 has in preclinical studies, by its anti-thrombotic, immunomodulating and tissue repairing characteristics, shown very positive and promising results as treatment for sepsis and critical conditions associated with sepsis.
