

BizOne new partner to Bizview Systems on BizView

The consultancy company BizOne complement its offering to the market through partnership with Bizview Systems and the software BizView.

Together with Bizview Systems, BizOne sees great potential in its market in a strong offering in both financial and operational planning. In addition to BizView's well fit with BizOne's customers BizView will strengthen BizOne's offering in business intelligence and performance management.

"We see great potential in the partnership with Bizview Systems", says David Arenbo, CEO at BizOne.

"Bizview's software for budgeting and planning will be a good complement to our current offering in business intelligence and performance management. Since Bizview is an open solution we can deliver integrated support in the planning process for existing and new clients", says Fredrik Sandberg, responsible for the planning offering at BizOne.

"With a partner like BizOne and with BizView customers ranging from medium sized to large corporations, BizView can be delivered for small to the most complex solutions in a combination of functionality, price and time that is second to none. We have already seen interest from the market around the offer BizOne and Bizview Systems can offer", says Peter Winkler, Partner Responsible at Bizview Systems.
