

Fasten seatbelts, ready for take-off!

BizView welcomes OSM Aviation to the increasing pool of businesses that have chosen BizView as their main CPM tool. Our reputation is growing, and we are seated safely for a huge take-off!

Disruptive industry solutions

OSM Aviation is responsible for manning a huge number of daily flights in and out of Europe, and the demand for flexible and powerful guiding tools are obvious.

"Global growth companies within low margin service sectors are really in need of strong tools for financial management and planning," says CFO Stig Storm-Hansen at OSM Aviation. "With BizView we now have a scalable system where we with great simplicity and flexibility can adapt to the ever changing and emerging needs in the business - performance management systems are key to success, our success. And over the next years we will see the importance of this in every growth company succeeding on the global arena."

Better, stronger and cheaper

"BizView is getting increasingly popular now, be it with small or big corporations, local or global players, it seems we have found the right formula: the need for BI and CPM solutions that combine simplicity, ease of use and flexibility, with cost-effective deployment and advanced features, is something we find in demand with our global customers", says CEO Oskar Kristiansen in BizView Systems.

"With BizView's scalable web technology, we can meet those demands better and more cost effective than most competitors in the global market. So it is with great pleasure we welcome OSM Aviation into the rapidly growing BizView family."
