YOU CANNOT LEAD FROM BEHIND

With BizView for Qlik Sense we are living up to our goal on being on the forefront of innovation – not necessarily on all subjects, but definitely on matters related to our core business based on solutions from main partners and trusted developers.

Qlik Sense is number one in it's field, we strive to be in our, so we take great pride in being the first, or among the first, developer who truly supports Qlik Sense at this early stage.

With BizView, Qlik Sense users around the world can finally add input capability to their BI solution. BizView is a superior, tightly integrated planning solution that relieves the frustration of having poor input systems alongside a modern BI solution. BizView provides a web-based Excel-like user interface combined with powerful workflow management, complementing Qlik Sense with world class planning capability.

Innovation to us means to be at the forefront

We are not able to stay in front unless we also have great partnerships with other developers. Qlik is one of them, and throughout the whole process of creating BizView for Qlik Sense we have had a great collaboration.

Bizview Systems is still not the biggest player in this huge global market of business intelligence, tools for budgeting, planning and forecasting. But the last years have shown that our focus on innovation, collaboration and building partnerships have been fruitful: BizView are by many seen as the new standard, which is the essence of the company mantra: "BizView – planning and reporting the way you want it. Faster!"

Being an adapter or follower is in many ways the easier life. But if we are going to have an impact on how businesses can manage corporate performance management, planning and forecasting processes in an easier, faster and cheaper way, then we need to be up there: with the leaders.
