

The alliance with Climber is the next step in our effort to make BizView the household name for Performance Management Software in Europe

BizView is gaining more and more attention, and new markets has emerged with new partnerships around the world. We are now very pleased to inform that NCG Group and Climber have started a strategic alliance based on development, distribution and sales of BizView for Qlik View in Europe.

Climber has a strong position in Europe, with longer experience and more QlikView consultants than any other company. As a very early QlikView partner they have acquired a unique insight to the product and mind-set, which NCG Group is very pleased to be able to build on.

"As the leading Qlik partner Climber is obviously specialized in QlikView" says Jan Sipek, CEO of Climber. "At the same time, we have always been open to bring in complementary products when needed. We cooperate with several partners today and it feels very good to be able to add NCG Group and BizView for Qlik View to them. This makes our offering within budget and prognosis even stronger."

"This year we have experienced fantastic response to BizView – the newly launched BizView 7.0 and BizView Analytics, as well as BizView for Qlik View", says Oskar Kristiansen, Chairman of NCG Group. "New markets, new partners and new customers confirm that BizView stands out as unique in this market. Very flexible, easy to use and financially sound!

With such success we are growing rapidly and to strengthen this process it is natural that we seek cooperation and coalitions around the world – but only with the best. We will work with companies with a proven track record, vast experience and large international networks. In Climber we now have access to QlikView competence, which should ensure that the promotion of BizView for Qlik View gets maximum impact in the European market. We know BizView, Climber knows QlikView – together we represent a strong team in a large and competitive market. A real benefit for us!
