Carnegie remains top for Nordic equity research, sales and execution - According to Extel 2018 global investor survey

Carnegie continues to dominate the rankings for Nordic equity research, sales and execution, according to one of the industry's most extensive surveys. In addition, the investment bank has the ten highest-ranked individual analysts in the Nordics, as global investors rate European finance houses.

For the third consecutive year, global investors rank Carnegie the best for Nordic equity research, sales and execution, as well as for corporate access, as the Extel 2018 global investor survey was announced. The survey is based on over one million votes from around 11,000 global investment professionals.

The survey further concludes that Carnegie has the ten highest-ranked individual analysts, with Carnegie's Lars Topholm once again at the head of the list.

"In light of recent regulations and increasing industry transparency, investors and other stakeholders are even more inclined to focus on the quality of the services they buy. This means that we place great value on these recognitions, for both research and execution," says Carnegie's Henric Falkenberg, Head of Securities.

Carnegie has close to fifty analysts covering almost 350 Nordic companies and their markets.
