Attendo strengthens the Executive Management team with focus on sustainability and quality development

Attendo's general counsel Jo-Anna Nordström becomes a member of the Executive Management team and, at the same time, resumes the responsibility for Attendo's overall sustainability work. Over the past year, Attendo has developed the sustainability strategy, and with Jo-Anna in charge, this focus is being strengthened. Eric Wåhlgren, Attendo's Business Development Director, is also given increased responsibility for the quality development work at group level.

Jo-Anna Nordström has a Master of Laws from Uppsala University and earlier in her career worked as a lawyer at Linklaters and Vinge, among others. Jo-Anna has been employed at Attendo as general counsel since 2019 and will, as of today, become a member of the executive management team and will be responsible for the company's overall sustainability work in addition to her current role.

“I am happy to announce that we are now strengthening the management team with Jo-Anna Nordström. Jo-Anna is a key person within Attendo and has successfully developed the legal function. She has also run projects linked to our sustainability work and is now given overall responsibility for developing this important area within the Group”, says Martin Tivéus, President and CEO.

Attendo's Business Development Director Eric Wåhlgren is now given increased responsibility to drive the group's work in quality development.

“Eric currently leads Attendo's work in developing joint working methods and digitization. By expanding Eric's role with quality development, we will strengthen our ability to develop tomorrow's care solutions with a focus on preventive health and well-being”, says Martin Tivéus.
