

Nilar partner Ferroamp wins prestigious innovation award at EES Europe Conference

From June 21-22, 2016, the EES Europe Conference took place in Munich, Germany. The event is Europe's largest exhibition for batteries and energy storage systems – and an industry hotspot for suppliers, manufacturers, distributors and users of stationary and mobile electrical energy solutions. At this year's conference, Nilar showcased its products together with Swedish manufacturer Ferroamp, whose innovative EnergyHub system was acknowledged with the prestigious EES Award 2016. The jury evaluated 149 entries from 22 countries before recognizing Ferroamp as one of the three conclusive winners

Nilar – who contributed to the success by supplying Ferroamp with the battery energy storage component for the EnergyHub system – also gathered a lot of interest and numerous visitors came by to learn more about the technology. Due to all the positive feedback received at the event, Nilar will arrange for its own company booth at next year's conference.
