Invent Medic's product Efemia Bladder Support evaluated by potential distributor in Germany

Invent Medic announces that both users and gynaecologists in Germany gave overall positive feedback on Efemia in a recently completed evaluation by a potential distributor in Germany. Based on the results, it was decided that Invent Medic needs a distributor with a stronger focus on the retail market in Germany.

Invent Medic will take the conclusions from the evaluation into account when continuing to search for an optimal distribution partner in Germany. The information is also relevant for additional European markets.

"The positive response from both users and gynaecologists in Germany in this evaluation indicate that Efemia has a strong potential on the international market. Based on this, we see this evaluation as a step forward in Europe even though we will not move forward with this particular distributor," says Invent Medic's CEO Karin Bryder.
