Jan Volsdal appointed MD of Nobina Norway

Jan Volsdal has been appointed as the new managing director of Nobina Norway and a member of Nobina's group management. Jan Volsdal currently holds the position of managing director of Bring Cargo AS.

Jan Volsdal will assume the position of managing director of Nobina Norge AS on 1 May 2017 at the latest. Nobina is the largest and most experienced bus public transport company in the Nordic region, with more than one million passengers each day in Norway, Sweden, Finland and Denmark.

"I'm pleased that Jan Volsdal is now joining the Nobina group. He brings with him many years' management experience and a breadth and depth of knowledge within transportation and logistics in both the Nordic region and internationally. Jan will be a valuable asset for our Norwegian company and for the Nobina group," says Ragnar Norbäck, CEO of Nobina AB.

Jan Volsdal possesses long managerial experience and has held senior positions within logistics, transportation and finance. Jan Volsdal holds an MSc Engineering within industrial economy from NTNU and is 41 years old. He succeeds Philipp Engedal, who is moving to Flygtoget at the end of the year. As from the beginning of 2017, Jon Hovde, CFO of Nobina Norway, will serve as acting managing director of Nobina Norway pending Jan taking up the position.

"With its position as market leader in the Nordic region and long experience within public transport, Nobina is a very interesting company. Public transport stands for important and sustainable development in society and it is, therefore, exciting to get the chance to be involved and able to contribute to making a difference. I look forward to being in charge of Nobina's work on a market with great potential, together with Nobina's skilled personnel," says Jan Volsdal.

Jan Volsdal is currently managing director of Bring Cargo. Jan has previously held several senior positions within Bring and Posten Norge and, before then, within Ringnes/Carlsberg.
