Nobina expands in Denmark with new agreement

Nobina has been awarded a new contract by Sydtrafik to operate and develop city transport services in Kolding and the surrounding areas. The new contract will start at the end of June 2022 and is valued at approximately DKK 480 million over the ten-year contract period, and includes two optional extension years.

The new contract means Nobina is expanding its Danish operations, which currently include services in the capital area, the rest of Zealand and southern Jutland as well as service traffic under the Ørslev Servicetrafik A/S brand. In total, the new contract encompasses 26 scheduled buses that will operate exclusively on electricity.

"I am delighted that Sydtrafik has chosen Nobina to operate city transport in Kolding, and thus given us this opportunity to jointly develop public transport services with a clear focus on sustainability that is both welcoming and safe," says Bram Lauwers, Business Area Director Denmark.

The award decision can be appealed until 27 May 2021.
