

Large North American consulting company continues rolling out in USA

The large North American consulting company, where Flowscape did an installation this summer, is now rolling out to another office in the US. It is the Las Vegas office that will get Flowscape's smart office solution. The order value for the first year is 350,000 SEK and thereafter 80,000 SEK annually.

"The customer installation we did this summer worked out very well. We now get a confirmation of this when the company chose to install our solution at another office in the US. The successful installation without any local Flowscape resources proof that our solution is scalable. The customer plans to place additional orders for offices both inside and outside the US before the end of this year" says Peter Reigo, CEO and founder.
