6U agreement between GomSpace and Sky and Space Global finalized

As announced 8 April 2019 by GomSpace, Sky and Space Global and GomSpace have entered into a Heads of Agreement consisting of two parts:

- A new agreement (6U Agreement)
- Changes to the original agreement from 2017 (as amended) (Pearls Agreement)

Entering into the Heads of Agreement, GomSpace expected the above-mentioned agreements to be finalized no later than May 2019.

Today, both parties signed the definite agreement of the delivery of 6U satellites. The new agreement includes a delivery of the first batch of 8 nanosatellites by Q1 2020 - and an optional batch of 8 more nanosatellites planned for first half year 2020.

The order value of the first batch of 8 nanosatellites is EUR 5,3 million, and the order value of the optional batch of additional 8 nanosatellites is up to EUR 3,8 million.

The new agreement is conditional upon secured financing by Sky and Space Global and the parties reaching an agreement on changes to the original agreement entered into in 2017 (as amended) (Pearls Agreement). Both parties expect to reach a definite agreement of the changes to the original agreement from 2017 (as amended) within 30 days.

"I am very pleased that we have reached an important step in finalizing our agreements. I am looking forward to continue the collaboration," says Niels Buus, CEO of GomSpace.
