FLEXIBLE and SMART Office at Clerkenwell Design Week

ASSMANN presents solutions for modern working environments at international design festival in London

ASSMANN Office Furniture Ltd. will once again be showcasing its diverse furnishing solutions and services for the comprehensive design of inspiring working environments and holistic room concepts at Clerkenwell Design Week in London. From May 20 to 22, 2025, the company is inviting visitors to its showroom, The Forum, 69 Turnmill Street, EC1M 5SY. The focus will be on flexible office solutions for hybrid working between home and office, smart tools for organizing everyday working life, new trend decors made entirely from recycled materials and sustainable office furniture that meets high ecological and social standards.

Smart solutions for everyday digital office life

"We create contemporary and inspiring places where people enjoy working and feel comfortable. Because we are convinced that people who feel comfortable in the workplace work more productively and achieve better results," says Arron Claydon, ASSMANN UK Managing Director. And to ensure that this work is not only flexible but also digitally optimized, ASSMANN will be showcasing smart office solutions at the design festival in the former warehouse and factory halls of the vibrant Clerkenwell district, which, for example, turn common locker systems into smart storage units - controllable via app.

Multifunctional office furniture that adapts to individual requirements

The product highlights include the multifunctional Cubas Flex modules, which can be individually configured into seating and stand elements, project and conference tables. This makes them perfect for agile meetings, adapting communication zones in open spaces or setting up a temporary lounge area. This is made possible by the patented fitting system, which makes it child's play to convert without tools in no time at all. The elements are also available with castors for even greater adaptability.

An inspiring framework for productive and creative work

Cantaris furniture, which will also be on show at this year's Clerkenwell Design Week, is the perfect complement to Cubas Flex. The range includes project, seminar and bistro tables which, thanks to their lightweight construction and high-quality castors, can be moved quickly and easily to reconfigure the space as required. Various transport and functional trolleys are available for further relocation. Lightweight whiteboard and felt boards are useful accessories that support project work and create an inspiring framework for productive and creative work in a good atmosphere.

Focus on sustainability

For more environmental friendliness, variety and color in the office, ASSMANN also presents the new trend decors, which are made from 100 percent recycled materials, at the annual three-day design festival. Sustainability has always played an important role at ASSMANN. This is evidenced not only by the regular sustainability report in accordance with the GRI standard, but also by the fact that the family-run company consistently implements sustainable standards in its products.

ASSMANN has been present at Clerkenwill Design Week for many years

ASSMANN has been presenting its furnishing solutions in the showroom in London's trendy district since 2009. Throughout the year, visitors can expect a cross-section of the entire product range as well as an overview of the broad spectrum of services, from comprehensive advice, planning and design to the complete realization of modern working environments - all from a single source.
