Syneo Part Wondawall – the Flexible Partition that Creates Spaces

ASSMANN's New Transformer for Agile and Inspiring Work Environments

Communication, concentration, creativity – modern working environments place many demands on spatial concepts. With the Syneo Part Wondawall, ASSMANN Büromöbel GmbH & Co. KG has developed a flexible solution that meets these challenges. This new mobile partition creates space exactly where it is needed – for retreat, collaboration, or presentation.

Multifunctionality for Everyday Office Use

The Wondawall is a true all-rounder. Whether as a privacy screen, room divider, presentation surface, TV mount, shelf, or even a planted design element – the partition serves various purposes. Thanks to its smooth-rolling castors, it can be repositioned in an instant, enabling spontaneous spatial changes without any construction work. A quiet workstation, a meeting corner, or a visual highlight can be created in no time.

Flexible Spaces for Flexible Work

“This flexible partition system brings exactly the kind of individuality and adaptability to the office that is crucial today,” says Thorsten Althoff, Product Manager at ASSMANN. With the shift towards hybrid working models, office furniture requirements are also changing. Dedicated workstations are giving way to flexible areas that can be reorganised daily – and that's exactly where the Syneo Part Wondawall comes in.

More Quiet and Structure in Open Spaces

In open office environments, the partition scores not only visually but also functionally: depending on the version, sound-absorbing materials ensure noticeably more peace and quiet at the workplace. This creates on-demand privacy without sacrificing the openness of the space – a real benefit for productivity and satisfaction.

Transformability by Design

The flexible solution impresses with a wide range of configuration options. Whether as a closed surface with a whiteboard function, an open shelving unit with shelves or a wardrobe rail – the modular partition can be flexibly designed and adapted to different work environments. A green wall version with plants is also part of the system. Other models include screen mounts or integrated work surfaces – ideal for spontaneous meetings or one-on-one conversations.

Individually Configurable

Aesthetics are not neglected either. Colours, fabrics, and surfaces can be chosen to match the existing interior. The Syneo Part Wondawall combines versatility with design and function. As part of holistic space concepts, it supports companies in adapting their office spaces to the needs of modern teams – flexible, mobile, and future-proof. Its name says it all: a wonderfully adaptable wall for maximally flexible working environments.
