Knorr-Bremse's offer for Haldex: Reason to believe a Phase II investigation will be initiated by the EU Commission – Knorr Bremse to apply for an extension of the acceptance period

On 5 September 2016, Knorr-Bremse AG ("Knorr-Bremse") announced a public offer to the shareholders of Haldex AB (publ) ("Haldex") to tender all shares in Haldex to Knorr-Bremse (the "Offer"). On 25 April 2017, it was announced that the acceptance period in the Offer is extended until 26 September 2017.

The completion of the Offer is conditional upon, inter alia, that all necessary clearances from authorities are obtained on terms acceptable to Knorr-Bremse. Knorr-Bremse has received indications by the EU Commission that it is likely to initiate a Phase II investigation in connection to the acquisition of Haldex. A final decision has not yet been communicated.

In anticipation of the EU Commission's potential decision to initiate a Phase II investigation, Knorr-Bremse will apply for permission from the Swedish Securities Council (the "SSC") to extend the acceptance period until 9 February 2018.

Knorr-Bremse takes a confident view on the potential in-depth investigation by the EU commission in Phase II. Thereby, the EU Commission will closely look at Knorr-Bremse's proposed combination with Haldex. A Phase II investigation is the next common step in the merger clearance process.

Klaus Deller, Chairman of the Executive Board of Knorr-Bremse AG, said: "We continue to drive the merger control process with full commitment. We will carry on our open and constructive dialog with the EU-Commission. Based on the compelling strategic fit of both companies we aim at developing innovative solutions for customers and creating value for Knorr-Bremse, Haldex and its shareholders. It is our clear objective, to open the next chapter of our company's history together with Haldex."
