

FlexQube receives orders worth $600 000 in Mexico

FlexQube has received two orders worth a total of $600 000. The orders are for mechanical carts in combination with the tugger train solution under the brand of Liftrunner. The orders will be delivered in 2023.

Anders Fogelberg, CEO comments; "The investments in Mexico continue at a high pace for most companies, and the need for carts and efficient transport solutions is big. It is not just the automotive industry that is driving the investments in new plants but also other general manufacturing industry. Mexico is one of our absolute strongest markets lately, and we look forward to continuing our high activity in the country. Through our distribution agreement with Liftrunner products, we have a strong offering and concept for modern intralogistics."
