Ripasso Energy's share can now be traded at Börse Stuttgart

Ripasso Energy's share can now be traded at Börse Stuttgart. Ripasso Energy welcomes this, as it facilitates for European investors to trade with the company's share.

Börse Stuttgart is one of Germany's leading market operators and organizes trading in equities, derivatives, bonds, ETFs, investment funds and certificates. Börse Stuttgart, owned and operated by Boerse Stuttgart GmbH, is a German company under the supervision of the German financial supervisory authority (BaFin). Börse Stuttgart also owns NGM, which provides the trading platform where Ripasso Energy's share is listed. Trading at Börse Stuttgart in Germany is made possible after NGM introduced Ripasso Energy to Börse Stuttgart.

Trading with Ripasso Energy's share on Börse Stuttgart takes place after an application made by Baader Bank AG. No new commitments will arise for Ripasso Energy in relation to NGM or Börse Stuttgart. Ripasso Energy welcomes the opening of trading at Börse Stuttgart, as it makes it easier for European investors to trade with the company's share.

"Ripasso Energy has come to a point when the share is interesting also internationally. We believe that Germany, with, like Sweden, a long tradition of high technology exports and a high level of knowledge within cleantech, especially will appreciate our company. We are therefore pleased that Börse Stuttgart facilitates the trading.", says Sven Sahle, Executive Chairman of Ripasso Energy.

"NGM and Börse Stuttgart can now together offer companies listed on NGM access to the German capital markets. In addition to trading with the share at the Stuttgart Stock Exchange, companies will be offered services for visibility and the opportunity to meet investors. The first company offered this is Ripasso Energy, listed on NGM
