Greenbyte releases an infographic on renewable energy in France

Renewable energy software company Greenbyte releases a series of infographics on renewable energy production in the European Union. After covering Germany and the UK, it is time to take a closer look at the renewable electricity generation in France.

The infographic focuses on data for wind, solar and hydro and sheds light on today's renewable energy market as well as its evolution in Europe over the past 10 years.

"We conducted an analysis of the European renewable energy market for internal purposes and quickly realized that our findings could be of interest not only to our customers but also to the industry at large. We were impressed to discover that the country produced 81,401 GWh of sustainable clean electricity in 2015 and that 95% of last year's electrical capacity growth in France was due to renewable energy. These numbers are a testament to the growing importance of renewable energy sources in future energy development." – says Fredrik Larsson, CMO at Greenbyte.

Greenbyte aims to provide the leading independent software service for the growing renewable energy industry through which renewable energy owners, operators and other stakeholders can obtain valuable insights leading to increased profit.
