

Imagine the Touchless Generation at Mobile World Congress in Barcelona

Malmö, 20 February, 2014 – Crunchfish is proud to present the touchless generation of social sharing, media players and selfies. At Mobile World Congress in Barcelona we will demonstrate leading edge technology and inspire you to explore and experience photo capturing and media consumption with our touchless solutions.

Crunchfish has focused its experience and skills on developing a number of touchless applications enhancing the user experience. Our cool selfie demo will let you experience taking photos, sharing and printing them. We will demonstrate how to control video playback – scrub, play and pause content. To really boost your user experience we will show how to share the media gallery in a beautiful and seamless way with friends on multiple devices simultaneously.
