

From research to global markets – Svenska Aerogel's CEO shares insights in the Gävle Business Podcast

Tor Einar Norbakk, CEO of Svenska Aerogel Holding AB (publ), participates in the latest episode of the Gävle Business Podcast, where he shares insights into his professional journey from senior executive roles in large international corporations to leading a publicly listed innovation company in a phase of growth.

In the interview, Tor Einar Norbakk talks about the company's transformation from a research-based organization to a commercial enterprise, and its continued expansion toward global markets. The conversation addresses Svenska Aerogel's innovative technology, key corporate milestones, commercial challenges, and his strong commitment to the company and its employees.

"It was an exciting opportunity to become CEO of a company that manufactures a product for commercial markets, based on a completely novel technology that had not yet been fully industrialized," says Tor Einar Norbakk in the podcast.
