ÅF signs framework agreement with Saab

ÅF has, through its Systems Division, signed a 3-year framework agreement with Saab. Saab serves the global market with products, services and solutions in applications ranging from military defence to civil security.

The framework agreement relates to the fields of systems design, software development, electronic design and project management.

The signing of this group agreement confirms ÅF's position as a leading supplier of consulting services for the development of high-tech products.

ÅF has been supplying services to Saab for many years and the new group agreement creates the potential for a substantial expansion in collaboration between the two companies in the future.
