Instalco wins contract to deliver electric power system to Mora Hospital

The Instalco company, ETKK, has won a contract for installation of the electric power system in conjunction with the expansion of Mora Hospital. The work will be carried out as part of a collaboration project and the total order value is approximately SEK 46 million.

Mora Hospital is being expanded with new facilities for its healthcare clinic and rehabilitation, along with new offices and a new main entrance. A new receiving station will also be built, including a reserve power plant.

ETKK has been contracted for the project planning, delivery and installation of the electric power system. The client is ByggDialog, working on behalf of the end client, Regionfastigheter Dalarna. The work will be completed in 2023.

“This is a major, important project not only for us, but the entire healthcare system in Dalarna. Together with the customer, we will plan and design the entire electric power system along with complete delivery and installation,” says Joakim Ihrfors, CEO of ETKK.

The Mora healthcare clinic is currently one of the largest in Sweden. Two years ago, Region Dalarna decided to undertake a major project at Mora Hospital, by converting and expanding the facilities in order to offer modern care in the region.

The Instalco company ETKK (El Kraftteknik & Konsult AB), with head office in Sala, specializes in electrical power, power assembly and grid connection for the process industry. Besides cable work, the company installs switchgear, transformers, busbars and powerstations, working with both low and high voltage. ETKK serves customers throughout Sweden and even internationally.
