PRESS RELEASE

14 October 2013, 08:00 am CET

Group Management strengthened through addition of Technology and Environment Director

Fabege will now gather its technological, energy and environmental matters under a single new division. The company has appointed Anders Borggren to manage the new division and serve as a member of Group Management. Anders Borggren worked most recently at ISS, where he was responsible for business development in Sweden. He will assume his new role at Fabege no later than 1 February 2014.

“Our technological operations are developing continuously and becoming subject to increasingly rigorous demands. By gathering technological, energy and environmental matters under Anders Borggren’s leadership, we will be able to strengthen both our customer offering and our continued efforts to reduce our climate impact,” says Christian Hermelin, CEO of Fabege.
