Medals of War enters Open Beta on Android

Nitro Games, a leading Finnish developer and publisher of mobile games, announced it's latest game "Medals of War" is now available on Android on the Google Play Store in Open Beta in 69 countries.

"We're now looking to introduce Medals of War to Android users, as well. There's been a great demand for the Android version, so we wanted to open up the Google Play Open Beta in countries where the iOS version is already available. This gives the Android players the opportunity to play together with iOS players." says Jussi Tähtinen, CEO & Co-Founder, Nitro Games Oyj.

This launch follows Nitro Games's strategy where the company is self-publishing it's games in the western markets. The other markets are to be accessed via publishing partners according to plan. Medals of War has been developed with Nitro Games' MVP –process, where the game development is closely tied to continuously collecting actual market data and community feedback, as the game is being further developed. Google Play Open Beta version can be accessed by a direct link (<https://play.google.com/apps/testing/com.nitrogames.mow>) that will be shared with the core audiences via Social Media and other key channels.

"This Open Beta launch means that we're offering the game for players to test on Android for the first time while we're still finalizing the Android version. The purpose of this Open Beta launch is for us to validate the game performance on Android as well as to collect feedback from our Android users." concludes Jussi Tähtinen.

Medals of War is a community-focused game that brings players together with their friends. Players are matched with each other in intense PvP combat – in real-time! The aim is to level up and hone your skills to be the best commander in Warland.
