Nitro Games transfers Autogun Heroes mobile to Hyperkani

Nitro Games has signed a development and publishing agreement for Autogun Heroes with game developer and publisher Hyperkani.

Under this agreement, Hyperkani will take over the development and publishing of Autogun Heroes on the mobile platform. The web and Discord versions of the game remain unaffected. Hyperkani is a Finnish game developer and publisher known for casual and fun mobile games that have been downloaded more than 200 million times. The parties have agreed on a revenue-sharing model, subject to the commercial performance of the game. Ownership of the IP remains with Nitro Games.

"We're happy to pass the torch to Hyperkani. Their expertise is a good match for the game. We also need to free up resources for other mobile games, so the timing works really well for us," says Jussi Tähtinen, CEO & Co-Founder of Nitro Games.
